SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20

3:00p.m. - 4:00p.m. A Musical Interlude with Scott Koblisch

You might know Scott Koblisch as the artist on Deadpool, but you've never seen him like this! Join Scott as he serenades you with his guitar and allows you to chill out in the midst of the Expo craziness. A can't miss opportunity!

4:00p.m. - 5:00p.m. Breaking the Fourth Wall with Deadpool

The Merc with a Mouth started off as a villain and has evolved into an anti-hero thanks to his humorous breaking of the fourth wall. Deadpool co-creator Fabian Nicieza and Deadpool artist Scott Koblisch discuss the character's evolution and his appeal. Q&A to follow.

5:00p.m. - 6:00p.m. LGBTQ Comics: Drawn From Life

Whether creating comic stories of total fiction or autobiographic graphic novels, comics writers and artists draw on their backgrounds to create their works. This is especially true in LGBTQ comics. Join Prism Comics and Moderator Tara Madison Avery ("Gooch", "Anything That Loves", Prism Comics Board Member) and a diverse group of LGBTQ creators to explore the intersection of queer life and comics - how creators' upbringings, family lives, religions, relationships and orientations influence and define their works.

Panelists will include Gillian Cameron ("Calogrenant"), William O. Tyler ("Ratboy"), Sonya Saturday ("Death's Door"), Steve MacIsaac ("Shirtlifter"), and Josh Trujillo ("Love Machines", "Death Saves").

6:00p.m. - 7:00p.m. Getting Animated with Top Animation Experts

a successful career working alongside today's top talents and industry giants. Panelists include Matt Hawkins, Shannon Eric Denton, Vince Hernandez, Barbara Kesel and Kris Simon.

12:30p.m. - 1:30p.m. #MakeComics: The Ins & Outs of Working on Licensed Properties

Working on a licensed property is vastly different than regular comics. Hear from Christina Rice (My Little Pony), Livio Ramondelli (Transformers) and Scott Lobdell (Galaxy Quest, Ghostbusters) as they discuss what's it like to work within the parameters of their Publisher's licensors.

1:30p.m. - 2:30p.m. #MakeComics: The Advantages of Creator-Owned Comics

Playing in others' sandboxes is fun, but sometimes doing your own thing can be just as fulfilling. Join Jimmy Palmiotti (Painkiller Jane, Hype), Tony Donley (Albert Einstein: Time Mason), D.J. Kirkbride (Amelia Cole, Popgun Anthology from Image Comics), and Megan Hutchison (The Aurora Grimeon Stories) to talk about why creating their own work is necessary as well as rewarding. Moderated by Marcus Perry (co-creator of Albert Einstein: Time Mason and Descendant from Image Comics).

2:30p.m. - 3:30p.m. Dwayne McDuffie Awards

The winners will be announced for the Dwayne McDuffie Award for Diversity. The nominees represent diversity both through the characters in the books and through the creators behind them, all of whom are women and/or people of color. The awards are named for Dwayne McDuffie, whose long and incredible career in comics and animation was tragically cut short by his death in 2011. Not only did he leave behind a legacy of great comics, he was also a major champion of diversity in genre fiction, and his commitment to that cause has inspired a generation of creators and fans.

3:30p.m. - 4:30p.m. #MakeComics: The Art of Cartooning

Join legends Dean Yeagle (Mandy, Playboy), Joe Staton (Dick Tracy), Don Rosa (Scrooge McDuck) and Dan Parent (Archie) as they discuss the art of cartooning and how they found success with their styles. Moderated by Travis Hanson, an Eisner nominated fantasy illustrator and himself a cartoonist. Q&A to follow.

4:30p.m. - 5:30p.m. #MakeComics: The Appeal of All Ages Comics

While comics aren't just for kids anymore, there's no reason they can't be for both kids AND adults! Agnes Garbowska (IDW's My Little Pony, Marvel's Girl Comics), Mike Kunkel (Hero Bear & the Kid) talk about the importance of appealing to all ages, not just adults or children. Q&A to follow.

5:30p.m. - 6:30p.m. #MakeComics: Successful Independent Publishing

Thinking about starting your own publishing company? Be smart and listen to these Independent Publishers talk about what it takes, and why they are successful. 2:00p.m. - 3:00p.m. Cosplay Makeup & Bodypainting 101

Linz will be demonstrating a cosplay makeup demo on a model featuring techniques such as contour, highlight, and body painting. The purpose of the makeup class will be to inform the audience on how to "step-up" their cosplay makeup by the use of simple techniques. Linz will transform her model into a cosplay character during the class by using these makeup techniques and will explain step-by-step instructions.

3:00p.m. - 4:00p.m. Star Wars Steampunk Universe

The two fastest expanding creative universes will converge at the Star Wars-Steampunk panel. Dude Vader, Solo Seekerman, Steamy Leia, Baron Von Maul, Sabe Sprocket, Lando, Capt Phasma and other famous Steampunker performers will explore steampunking classic Star Wars costumes and weapons: Storm Trooper/Tie Fighter/Fett body armor, Lightsabers, Blasters, gorgeous Victorian Era versions of Princess Leia and Queen Amidala costumes, Jedi of all species, and robots (is C3PO the ultimate ambassador for these two universes?) We will discuss how to salvage your everyday watch and bicycle gears, vintage brass plumbing parts, industrial revolution steam era antiques, old leather and lace into personal visual expressions of your love of the Star Wars saga. Slides of steampunk outfits, paintings, sculptures and computer art from our entire planet will give a glimpse of fan base talents preparing their outfits for the premier of "The Force Awakens".

4:00p.m. - 5:00p.m. Agents of Cosplay: Putting the PLAY back in COSPLAY

We all know how to put on a costume and walk the convention floor, but what takes your costume to the next level? Playing the role! We will discuss how to be more comfortable in a crowded setting and be able to play the character you dressed up as to the fullest! You already made the costume, why not complete it by sounding, acting, and posing like the character you're portraying? We will also teach you techniques on how to overcome shyness and the how-to's on the skill of improv!

There will also be a demonstration of a kitchen comet!

12:30p.m. - 1:30p.m.

From Mars to the Stars

Louis Friedman will present a new paradigm about the future for human spaceflight -- it will reach Mars, and no further. Mars beckons, the only accessible planet that can support human life and there it will be determined if we are doomed to be a single planet species living on a fragile planet with existential threats to our species or one with an unlimited future. The settlement of Mars will take centuries, if not millennia, and thus it is a goal for a creative and exciting future. At the same time, human travel beyond Mars will become an obsolete idea, supplanted by evolving nano- and bio-technologies and by an ever expanding information age. Exploration on Mars will be physical, exploration beyond Mars will be virtual. Friedman will describe how the Mars goal can and should drive NASA's and other space agencies' human spaceflight programs beginning with the first flights to a Near Earth Asteroid and finally reaching Mars in the next few decades.

Academy of Art University

Academy of Art University is the largest privately owned art and design school in the United States; offering classes online and at their expansive San Francisco campus. We will have several artists in attendance presenting demos and instructing in live drawing sessions, led by instructor George Cwirko Godycki. George Cwirko Godycki possesses a real passion for teaching and for the last five years has taught at the Academy of Art University in San Francisco. He teaches classes in figure drawing, anatomy, and environment design as well as many classes about costume drawing. His hands are usually gross, but it's not because he doesn't know how to wash them; it's just because he draws with a lot of charcoal and charcoal doesn't come out even when he washes them a lot, and it's hard to get charcoal out of your fingernails even though he does try really hard. He doesn't know why washing hands is so easy for other people. He did wash them, he promises.

10:30a.m. - 11:30a.m.

Mars Rover Engineering: Technology, Troubles, and Triumphs

The engineering behind the unprecedented success of the NASA/JPL Mars Rover Program: mechanisms, software, and infinite creativity. We'll talk about design and operations of the rovers Spirit, Opportunity, and Curiosity, and how we learn and improve with each generation. We'll also share some stories of the many unexpected challenges we have faced and how we overcame them, including hostile Mars environments and aging rovers. Ashley Stroupe is a robotics software engineer and has been at NASA's JPL for 11 years. For the last 10 years, she has specialized in surface systems operations for the Mars Rovers. As a "rover driver" for Opportunity and Spirit, commanding drives and use of the robotic arm, she was the first woman to drive on another planet. She is also the Lead Science Planner for Curiosity, building plans and modeling resources for daily planning. She has been actively involved in research, developing strategies for complex surface operations for future missions. Ashley has a PhD and MS in Robotics from Carnegie Mellon University, an MS in Electrical Engineering from George Mason University, and a BS in Physics from Harvey Mudd College. Outside of work, she is an enthusiastic world traveler and is an active member of local community theater.

Mike Seibert is a Rover Driver and the Lead Spacecraft Systems Engineer for the Mars Exploration Rover Opportunity. As a Rover Driver he plans Opportunity's route for a sol (Mars day). Rover Drivers also create the commands that are used to move Opportunity's robotic arm to directly investigate the Martian surface. As a Spacecraft Systems Engineer, Mike assesses the health of the rover and is the engineering team representative during daily activity planning. Mike received a B.S. in Aerospace Engineering Sciences from the University of Colorado at Boulder in 2005 and a M.Eng. in Space Operations from the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs in 2011.

Virgin Galactic: Building a Spaceline and Launching the Small Satellite Revolution

Staff from Virgin Galactic will talk about the progress of building and operating a fleet of suborbital space transportation vehicles (SpaceShipTwo) and building a production line of the world's most responsive small satellite launch vehicles (LauncherOne). A.C. Charania is an entrepreneurial engineer and technical innovator possessing more than a decade of experience creating and advancing new aerospace ventures for both commercial and government customers. He has worked on projects for NASA, the U.S. Air Force, DARPA, large aerospace prime contractors, and the field of NewSpace ventures. He was a key founder/employee in three aerospace start-ups (SpaceWorks Enterprises, Generation Orbit, and Terminal Velocity Aerospace) and has initiated space projects with Japan and South Korea. He is currently Director of Strategy and Business Development at Virgin Galactic, the world's first commercial spaceline. He helps to mature Virgin Galactic's overall strategic roadmap by leading and building new technical initiatives as well as capturing customers for its LauncherOne small satellite launch vehicle service. Mr. Charania holds a B.S. and M.S. in Aerospace Engineering from the Georgia Institute of Technology and a B.A. in Economics/Mathematics from Emory University.
